

Replace the Sensor of Coffee Maker

- 1) Loosen up the screws at the four corners.

Remove the old sensor from its installed location.

And proceed to remove the female connector off the power board, and plug in the new sensor, and run the sensor cable back to its installed location pictured in #2 picture.

