EPICUREANIST TRILUX WINE AERATOR

Thank you for purchasing an EPICUREANIST product. Please read all the instructions before attempting to operate this product and save this instruction manual for future reference.

WHY DOES WINE NEED TO BREATHE?

Every wine has certain aromas associated with it and if the wine does not breathe, then one cannot taste all the aromas. Wines that need aging and haven't reached full maturity may not have the aromas and flavor that is expected when first opened. Exposing wine to air will provide a gentle oxidation that compares to aging wine in a cellar.

A young wine needs to breathe less air to mellow its harsh taste and improve its texture. Older wines, on the other hand, need to breathe more air to enhance their flavor and smooth their finish. How much air the wine needs to breathe, ultimately, depends on your own taste.

PRODUCT FEATURES

The EPICUREANIST Trilux wine aerator speeds up the process of breathing by instantly aerating with ease and convenience.

When wine is poured through the aerator, its internal delicate design creates different pressure to mix the air with wine for perfect aeration—shortening the wine breathing time to seconds.

The unique feature of this aerator is that the aeration level is adjustable: high aeration - medium aeration - low aeration. There are three different size holes in the built-in aeration plate. When adjusted to the small holes, the wine flows slowly and the wine breathes more. When adjusted to the big holes, the wine flows rapidly and the wine breathes less air. When set to the mid-sized holes, the wine breathes a medium quantity of air.
